KURANDA

Village in the Rainforest

www.kuranda.org

Welcome to the Village in the Rainforest

Whether you arrive by road, Kuranda Scenic Railway or Skyrail Rainforest Cableway, make sure you plan to stay a while to experience everything Kuranda has to offer. There is an array of wildlife encounters where you can get close to Australian native animals including koalas, kangaroos, cassowaries and reptiles. Discover cool rainforest walks and a fascinating network of historic trails through the Barron Gorge National Park. The famous Kuranda markets have handcrafted silk and cotton clothing, exotic jewellery, locally made Aboriginal arts and crafts, and souvenirs made from crocodile and kangaroo hide. Meet artists in their galleries and watch craft demonstrations. Make sure you stop at a restaurant, café or food stall to relax outdoors and enjoy extraordinary food.

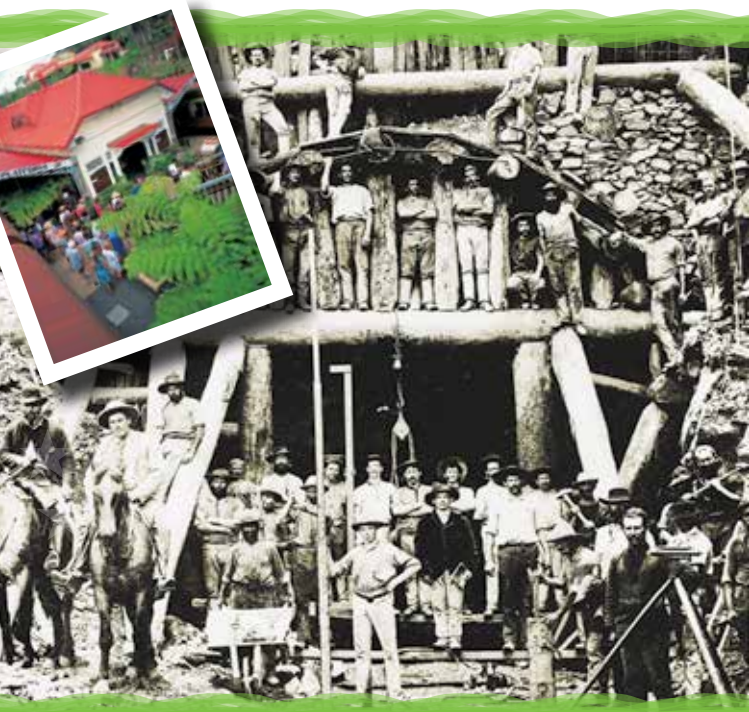
Kuranda Story

Surrounded by the world's oldest living tropical rainforest 330 metres above Cairns, Kuranda is the home of the Djabugay people. The Djabugay call Kuranda Ngunbay, which means the place of the platypus, and for tens of thousands of years they made use of the permanent water and abundance of bush foods in the rainforest.

The first Europeans settled in Kuranda in 1885 and three years later the area was surveyed in anticipation of a railway connection linking the Atherton Tablelands to Cairns. The railway line opened in 1891 enabling settlers to use the area for timber felling, agriculture and grazing.

In 1915 Kuranda's railway station was nicknamed "The Honeymoon Station" and the village became known as the health resort of North Queensland as its cool climate gave a reprieve from the coastal humidity. In the 1930s Kuranda became a popular tourist destination with visitors arriving each Sunday by train.

When hippies discovered the Village in the Rainforest in the 1960s, Kuranda became known for its alternative lifestyle. This artistic group created market stalls to sell art, crafts and produce which today are home to artisans happy to show their skills to visitors.



Amazing Rainforest Walks

Kuranda has a network of interlinked walks which provide access through the village and its surrounding environment, including the Barron Gorge National Park.

You can see what life is like in a mountain village surrounded by the Wet Tropics World Heritage Area, discover more about Rainforest Aboriginal culture, understand how Kuranda's market economy came about, access Barron Gorge National Park and 'get up close' to tropical rainforest. For more information about our rainforest walks visit Kuranda Visitor Information Centre – refer back page. Each walk offers a different experience.

1. The Village Walk (500m) showcases the main street and finishes at the site of the original Kuranda markets. Explore Kuranda's 'market economy' and view the tropical architecture of our village in the rainforest.
2. Jumrum Creek Conservation Park (1.4km) is a walk through the rainforest surrounding Kuranda village.
3. The Jungle Walk (900m) passes through a regenerating forest. See how quickly a rainforest grows.
4. The River and Esplanade Walk (1.5km) a pleasant riverside stroll down a tree-shaded esplanade.

The walks are linked, so you can mix and match options to suit your interests and available time. At the start of each track is an introductory sign.

Kuranda Markets

Kuranda's world-famous markets opened in 1978 alongside the Honey House and developed from 15 original stores into the sprawling Kuranda Original Rainforest Markets of today. Locals started the markets to sell their hand-made arts, crafts and local produce and to attract visitors to Kuranda.

The stallholders paid for the Kuranda train to arrive on market days to prove the viability of the service to the Railway Department. The Kuranda Original Rainforest Markets and the neighbouring Kuranda Heritage Markets now operate seven days a week and many visitors still arrive on the iconic train.

Kuranda markets feature handmade arts and crafts, locally designed and produced fashion, handcrafted jewellery and gemstones, Aboriginal artwork, wood and leather work, North Queensland's best range of honey, local coffee, tropical fruit ice cream, coconuts and macadamia nuts.

Kuranda Accommodation

Choose from diverse accommodation including a working artist's studio and a raw food vegan retreat. Kuranda has camp sites, self-contained villas, a country tavern, cottages and a resort.

The one thing they all have in common is their rainforest setting with local wildlife. Look for wallabies, pademelons, flying foxes, curlews and maybe a cassowary while you relax and enjoy the rainforest view.

Kuranda is an ideal base to explore the Atherton Tablelands where you can chase waterfalls, enjoy paddock to plate experiences, and discover World War II history. Buy fresh produce at roadway stalls to cook yourself or return to the village in the evening for dinner with the locals.

Driving to Kuranda

Kuranda is a 35-minute drive from Cairns travelling over the Barron River to Smithfield where you ascend the spectacular Kuranda Range road section of the Kennedy Highway. Wind through World Heritage rainforest and catch glimpses of Skyrail Rainforest Cableway and the Coral Sea through the rainforest. Stop at Henry Ross Lookout to admire the coastline and look out to the Great Barrier Reef and Green Island.

Kuranda is the gateway to the Atherton Tablelands making it an ideal base to explore nearby attractions including waterfalls, tropical fruit wineries, coffee plantations, farms and World War II sites.
